Are You Crossing the Line and Practicing Law?

We use real estate contracts all the time. We fill in the blanks, we write up addendums. We are told by our offices, that is ok to do. But is it? Cross outs? Adding language? Extra addendums? Giving advise on how to take title? And much, much more. When have we stepped over that line. Extra added attraction of the recent case of proper disclosure to your clients. Don't miss this information packed session for the beginning of the year.

Start the year off right with the right information.
